On the 15th Feb., at Monaco, of hear! disease. RICHARD DEACON, of Claygate Surrey, formerly of Hongkoug, China On the 15th Feb., at 17, Gledhow ger

The calm that usually prevails in the Logislative Council was somewhat ruffled yesterday afternoon. Mr Ryrie began with a growl about the Acting Colonial Secretary's evidently a little nettled by the proposal to stop the increase of official salaries, and when his temper is ruffled he develops a great concern for the observance of the strict rules of debate. The consequence was that Mr Whitehead was disarmed before he could fire a volley into the official camp, and the Governor having got the field all to himself fired off his arguments regardless of all rules and regulations. The discussions in the Council are often carried on in a most irregular manner. Members speak without any motion being before the meeting, and often, as yesterday, a discussion arises on a question. It is not a difficult matter to observe rules, and if the members followed the proper modes of raising a discussion they would find that rules need not check debate. But reformers must be consistent, and if his Excellency wishes to enforce rules he must do so rogularly and not spasmodically, and above all he must show a good example. If Mr Whitehead was out of order in speaking on the protest, the Governor was equally out of order in continuing an irregular discussion on the merits of a motion that was not before the Council; and later on, when the Gambling Bill was being discussed, he checked Mr Keswick for speaking to a motion that had not been seconded, and immediately thereafter he and his officials spoke repeatedly on the same unseconded

Apart from the personal matters, the turn which the debate on the military contribution took is to be regretted. The real issues were more obscured then ever. His Excellency, finding that in the Finance Committee both the Colonial Secretary and the now Acting Colonial Secretery had treated the demand for the second £20,000 for 1890 as a re-vote, declared that the Finance Committee was not a part of the constitution of the Colony, but only a convenient means of saving time and that the cue must be taken from his own statements in full Council. This was a very clumsy way of denouncing the attitude taken up by Mr Fleming and Mr Deans in the Finance Committee, for whether that committee is or is not an integral part of the constitution does not alter the fact that every member of the Council, official and unofficial, with the probable exception of His Excellency, has hitherto regarded the demand for the second £20,000 for 1890 as a revote. And what is more, the Secretary of State for the Colonies so regards it. He has cabled a demand that the money already voted be forwarded, and he has never, as far as published documents show, withdrawn from the All he did was to transmit a letter from the 1.10 War Office, stating that a remission could not be made on account of the non-arrival of troops, as even the doubled contribution 14 1.25 fell far short of the money expended on the Per Case. The receipt of this 1 doz. 2 doz. letter, which it is to be presumed the Colonial Office tacitly endorsed, altered, we $4.50 must confess, the nature of the demand for 7.50 succeeding contributions. It being ap-12.00 parent that the money was wanted irrespective of an increase of the garrison, the Conneil ought, when considering the $12 $1.10 estimates for this year, to have thoroughly threshod out the question whether the colony is entitled or able to pay the full 18 1.50 amount asked. Unfortunately this was not done, and the question still remains Vintage, Red Capsule . 24 2.00 to be tackled; But with regard to the vote passed in April last year, nothing can alter the fact that it was passed on certain very definite conditions. These conditions not having been fulfilled, the 8 0.75 unfficial members are acting intelligently and consistently in opposing the payment of the money whether the mode of rademanding the money be termed a revote or. a retrospective vote; and the scant courtesy which they have received at the hands of the Secretary of State, who has never really answered their resolutions, fully justifies the attitude they have assumed with regard to this particular £20,000.

They began wrong and they have been plunging ever since. They were led 4.50 0.40 away by the specious promises of the Colonial Office to admit a radically vicious principle, -that our contributions should increase pari passu with the increase of the garrison, or with the increase in the amount spent for defensive purposes in this part of the world. This principle once admitted, no limit can be put to the Chartreuse Dr. Siegert's Angestura demands of the Imperial Authorities intil the whole of the cost of the garrison is defrayed by the Colony, plus perhaps a big contribution towards the expense of the navy in these waters. The proper attitude to have taken up, as we have all along maintained, wasthis -the Colony is willing to pay a fair contribution, consistent with its means, towards the defence of the empire, but,

But we cannot help repeating the very

"Mr H. J. Scott seconded the motion. Mr A. P. Stokes-It seems to me that what we will have to decide is the manner in which these shares will be issued, and I think there are three or four points to consider in connection with that. The first consideration of course is whether or not the capital should be increased, and the form of that resolution will be that the capital be increased from $180,000 to $225,000 by the creation of 4500 new shares of $10 each, to be fully paid up, and that such now shares be issued on the following terms and conditions and with the following rights and privileges-(a) the said shares to be called preference shares, and that the holders thereof be entitled to a cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 12 per cent per annum. It was suggested that the preferential rate should be 12 or 15 per cent. the directors on consideration thought 12 per cent would be sufficient to make the shares attractive. There is also in connection with this portion of the resolution the consideration whother these preferential of each year, without any right to resort to the profits of subsequent years in case of a deficiency or whether they should be cumulative. The question is whether incent, and whether the shares should carry that interest as cumulative.

The next point is. (c) That to issue such shares or such proportion of them as they may deem necessary in such manner and to such persons as they may think fit.' Of course they would exercise their powers in favour of the general body la of shareholders first. Mr Orange-I think that had better be

I think the only thing to decide is whether the rate should be 12 per cent and whether it should be cumulative or otherwise. Mr Hirst-I think it should be cumula.

Mr J. H. Cox-What is the practice generally Mr A. P. Stokes-It depends on the position of the company, Mr. E. Osborue-Do you think there is a reasonable chance of getting the money 17 500 without making the interest oumulative? Banometer 9 A.M.... 30.05
